DEDICATION

We, the senior class, are fortunate indeed to have had the inspiring sponsorship of Mrs. Virginia Fickle throughout our high school years. The success we may have attained has been due to her friendly advice, tireless efforts, and her co-operation with us and our parents.

And so, to you, Mrs. Fickle, in appreciation for your friendship, guidance, and assistance, the Class of 1960 solemnly dedicate this annual.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

On a bright fall day of 1948 we twenty-two coy, little darlings peeked through the door of Mrs. Powlen's first grade room: Mary Barrett, Cynthia Burton, Sue Burkhart, Rhoda Dodt, Sharon Fultz, Tony Herd, Elmer Howard, Mike Jones, Kathy Pets, Robert Pender, Larry Rance, William Ritter, Jackie Roe, Pat Scheetz, Lois Stevens, Robert Swank, Ruth Swank, Martha Watts, Patricia Way, Joe Waymire, Karen Witters, Tom Hilkert. Mrs. Powlen motioned us in and made us feel at home immediately. This year we tried to master the three R's under Mrs. Powlen's patient guidance. By the second year nineteen brave second graders, accustomed to the idea of going to school, were again received by Mrs. Powlen. We had lost Elmer Howard, Kathy Pets, Jackie Roe, Martha Watts, Joe Waymire, and Karen Witters, but we gained Susan Michael, Carol Jones, and Marvin Fletcher.

Mrs. Winn taught us nineteen angels in the third grade. We can still remember her smile of kindness while trying to explain to us what we were to do next. Carol Jones and Robert Pender had left us, but we gained Patricia Basham and Sandra Reingardt. Twenty happy faces appeared at Mrs. Winn's door for the fourth grade, the loss of Sandra Reingardt being balanced by the gain of Edgar Tharp and Paul Graham. This is the year we realized the value of competition. We can recall the spelling contests and bees, the mathematics ciphering, and the contests to see who could say the multiplication tables the fastest.

Mr. Jones, our first man teacher, taught us in the fifth grade. We added Jim Roberson, Ronald Gilman, Dorothy Scott, Robert Gerlach, and Bill Marshall, but Ruth Swank, Susan Michael, and Edgar Tharp left us. Our sixth grade was the peak of our success in grade school, for we were the oldest. We were used to a man teacher and enjoyed the stories Mr. Jones read us. Patricia Way, Paul Graham, Dorothy Scott, and William Ritter were not in our class this year.

Mr. Connelly, as principal, directed our enthusiastic seventh grade of nineteen pupils up the stairs. William Ritter rejoined us. Miss Hall was our class sponsor that year, and we were grateful to her for teaching us parliamentary procedure. Mrs. Moss was the sponsor for our eighth grade class of eighteen. Sue Burkhart, William Ritter, and Marvin Fletcher were lost to us, but we gained Janice Rinehart and Sam Sharp. We have fond memories of Mr. and Mrs. Moss at our eighth grade class parties.

At last our high school days were here. The four wonderful years of our life we shall always cherish. Mrs. Fickle, who was very understanding and helpful, was our class sponsor all four years. Merle Haring joined us this year. We sponsored a skating party at the Rochester Skating Rink, which everyone enjoyed in spite of the blisters and bruises, and a theater party.

If you happened to see eighteen energetic teenagers picking up corn at Rinehart's, it was just our sophomore class. This was one of our money making projects. Larry Rance was not with us this year. We sponsored another skating party and theater party. The balcony was very popular!

Our junior year was a busy one. Nineteen of us carried cokes at the county tourney, sold magazines, and picked up corn to make money for our senior trip. We held our Prom at Purdue with the theme "Stairway to the Stars." Merle Haring did not return this year, and Katrina Freels and Jim Grimes were with us for only a short time.

Finally, in the year 1959-60 we became seniors, an eventful year for all of us. We sold Christmas cards, had our senior pictures taken, made the yearbook, sold refreshments at the county tournament (joined by the juniors), and took a seven-day trip West. The following seventeen were graduated on May 13: Mary Barrett, Patricia Basham, Cynthia Burton, Rhoda Dodt, Sharon Fultz, Robert Gerlach, Ronald Gilman, Tony Herd, Tom Hilkert, Mike Jones, Bill Marshall, Janice Rinehart, Jim Roberson, Pat Scheetz, Sam Sharp, Lois Stevens, and Robert Swank. Thus ended our happy school days at Lucerne.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

I, Mary Barrett, do bequeath my position as cheerleader to Kay Herd, so she can fulfill one of her many high school dreams; to my brother, Bob, my front seat in history class, so he can get A's in history and also avoid any trouble he might happen upon by chance; and to Jane, a vacant seat on the school bus, so she can study in peace!

I, Patricia Basham, do bequeath my ability to remain relatively calm at basketball games to Kay Frushour; to my brother, Dick, who doesn't seem to know what study halls are for, my practice of getting my lessons done there; to Betty Curry my ability to park a car, so she can pass her driving test, too.

I, Cynthia Burton, will my Super-Colossal DeLuxe Model to Karen Clary, so she can have something to do next year in figuring this out, and my office of class treasurer to Barbara Haselby, so she can be rich while in high school.

I, Rhoda Dodt, do bequeath my spot as accompanist to Karen Thompson;to my brothers, the wonderful memories of my high school days; to Kay Herd and Karen Grandstaff, my sack lunch,so they can keep Karen Clary company noon hour.

I, Sharon Fultz, do bequeath my ability to stay slim to Donna Ross, so she can eat all she wants without gaining weight; my place in the office to Betty Curry, so she can meet some interesting men.

I, Robert Gerlach, hereby will my seat in band to Tom Deck, so he may become a top-notch musician; my seat in assembly, which is beside a heater, to David Kelley, so that he will no longer have to wear his winter coat at study.

I, Ronald Gilman, do bequeath to my brother, Stan, my car, so he can have as much fun chasing the girls as I did; to my sister, Nancy. my desk and books in hopes she will gain much more knowledge from them than I.

I, Tony Herd, do bequeath my ability to get along with others to the teachers of L.H.S., so that they don't kick the bucket during the next two years of the sophomore boys' high school career; to my sisters, my colorful years in school.

I, Tom Hilkert, do bequeath my nickname "Grinny" to Karen Grandstaff, whom it seems to fit; to Rex Waymire and Larry Curry a supply of apple cores, so they won't have to bother eating the apples before they throw them.

I, Mike Jones, will my brother, Mark, to the teachers, so that they will stay wide awake and on the job, and my height to Tim Marshall, so he may become a future basketball star like his brother.

I, Bill Marshall, do bequeath to Jerry Kelley my left kneecap, so that he will be able to play basketball and chase girls; to my brother, Tim, I will my ability to get decent grades; to my sister, Susan, my pencil stubs and erasers

I, Janice Rinehart, do bequeath to the sophomore boys my ability to find trouble without looking for it; to Kay Herd, my seat in the assembly, not too far from the radiator, so that she may not freeze if the room is too cold or bake if it's too hot.

I, Jim Roberson, will to Tim Marshall, my height, so he can play basketball; to Bob Barrett, my scoring ability; to Jim Barr, my ability to be on the baseball team.

I, Leo P. Scheetz, bequeath to my brother my small amount of ability to play basketball, so that he may excell; to the junior girls, who sit in the front seats in history class, my inability to get A's, so Joe Waymire may get better grades.

I, Sam Sharp, do bequeath my toga to future Latin Club members; my enthusiasm in studying history to those who need it; my seat at home games to the one who can find it.

I, Lois Stevens, do bequeath my ability to drive a tractor to Kay Frushour, so she can help her father; my desk in study hall to Betty Curry, so she can be close to the teachers; my place as popcorn popper at the Halloween Carnival to Donna Ross.

I, Robert Swank, bequeath my ability to be high scoring man on the poultry judging team to Mick Scheetz; my science books to my brother, Jerry, who loves them dearly; my ability to get caught in Mrs. Fickle's assembly to any sophomore boy who wants the honor.

PROPHECY

One summer I decided to come back to Lucerne on my vacation to look up some of the friends with whom I had gone to school. It didn't surprise me to see that Lucerne hadn't changed much in the past twelve years. The schoolhouse looked somewhat quiet, as if it missed the loud, mischievous pranks of the high school students since they'd consolidated. I was running low on gas, so I pulled into the garage that used to be Hilkert's, thinking I could ask Gene about Tom. The gas station attendant looked familiar, and no wonder! It was none other than BILL MARSHALL. When I asked him what he was doing working for Gene, he looked surprised and said the garage now belonged to him and TOM HILKERT. They'd been such good friends, they hadn't wanted to be separated. He invited me to come in to see some of the "old gang" who were sitting inside gossiping. BOB SWANK was there waiting while Tom pounded out a fender on his car. Bob is a man of politics now. He is trying to get a bill passed to get parked cars off the streets. It seems he is becoming Tom and Bill's best customer. PAT SCHEETZ was there, too, waiting to get his station wagon worked on. "Station wagon?" I asked questioningly. I guess he needs one, since he had six children at the last count.

I was quite eager to know about the rest of their class. They told me few of them had finished what they started out to do. Take MIKE JONES, for example. He'd gone to Ball State instead of Purdue (I wonder why) and had become, of all things, a John Deere dealer. I had to laugh remembering how Mike had hated J.D. SAM SHARP'S ambition to be a language teacher had been realized. His chief claim to fame is the book he has published on the Beatnic language, upon which he is an authority. RHODA DODT, who had gone on and on about the Golden Girl of Purdue, has become, believe it or not, the Golden Girl! BOB GERLACH has become a butcher--a butcher of good songs, that is. Seriously though, they said Butch has become so skilled with his cornet, he has been hired by a big name band. MARY BARRETT, too, had started out on her career as a nurse, but had met a handsome young interne, studying to be a baby doctor and had married him. How handy!

I asked about old Romeo, RON GILMAN. He has never outgrown that stage of being around girls. He is now Dean of an all-girls' school! SHARON FULTZ has started a reducing salon, and one of her regular customers is JIM ROBERSON'S wife. They said Jim even had to get rid of his beloved Renault. When I asked about JANICE RINEHART, I was surprised to hear that she was still an old maid, after all the admirers and boyfriends she'd had in school. The fellows say she tells them, "I could have gotten married anytime I wanted to. I--I just never happened to want to." What they told me about TONY HERD was even more surprising. Winning "King" at the Royal Center 4-H Fair had given him new ideas, and he is now entering every he-man, best-looking, and Mr. America Contest he has time for. CINDY BURTON, who has always loved fast cars, has Tom building her micro-midgets, which she is racing. She is Woman's Champion Midget Driver.

Now I had heard about everyone but PATRICIA BASHAM and LOIS STEVENS. Bill said I could find them at the fire station. When I walked into the fire station, I about fell dead in my tracks, for in the position of the big wig was Pat. She said her dad had decided the job was too exciting for him, so he has retired, but she has taken it over to keep the job in the family. Suddenly I heard a commotion in the back. Upon examining, I found Lois Stevens and Ronald Gilman over in the corner playing cards. "Confound it," Ron cried indignantly, "she beats me every time!" Lois, it seems, comes up to keep Pat company whenever she isn't helping her dad with the farm.

The day had been an exciting one full of surprises and shocks. However, I should have known better than to be shocked at the graduating class of 1960, for they'd always done the unexplainable and unexpected while in high school!
